

Ad Hoc Shipment Notifications

Check It In The Mail

Shipit.to's real-time alerts and notifications allow you to monitor the progress and condition of your shipments. We've now opened up the ability to add ad hoc recipients for notifications about specific shipments.

You can add as many email addresses as you need to help keep your customers, partners, and employees informed about the status of the shipment.

Email notifications are an easy and efficient way for staying up to date on your shipments' status.

Email addresses can be added or removed regardless of the shipment's current status and will help you keep the right people in the loop as the need arises.

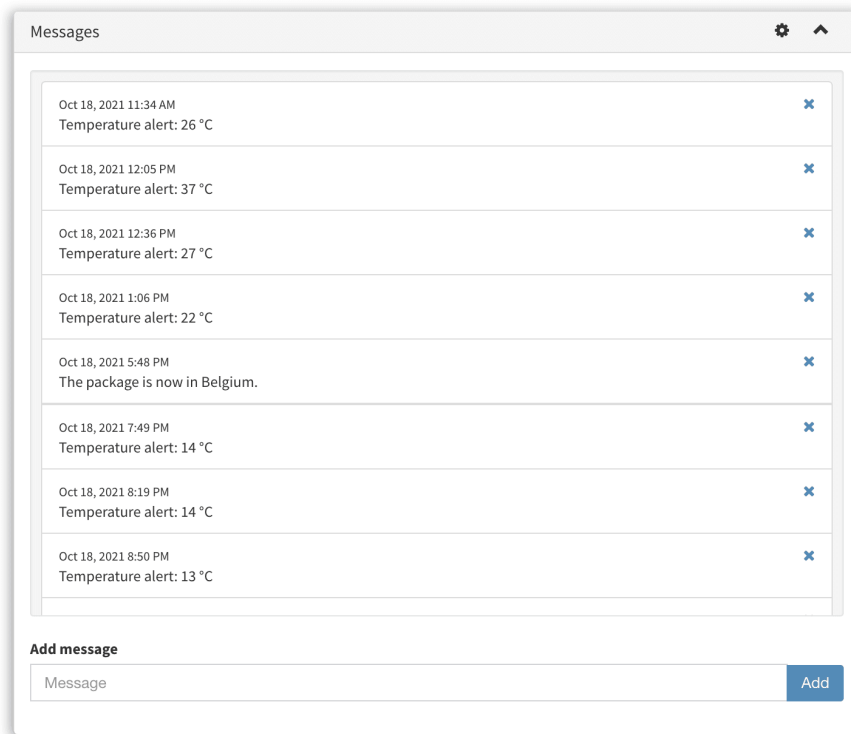

To access the email address configuration panel simply click the cogwheel icon at the top of the 'Messages' section of your shipment's information:
